About Anthony Lau

Anthony is a Hong Kong based photography enthusiast, a LEAN Six Sigma black belt business process improvement expert and father to two kids. Anthony's brother introduced him to the world of photography when he was a primary student, but he discovered his passion when his first child was born 11 years ago. Nowadays, Anthony would not hesitate to spend eight-hours riding horses in Xinjiang for location shooting. He loves all aspects of photography and videography, but found himself helplessly captivated by the interaction of strangers with surrounding nature and cities.

His road to the National Geographic awards began in 2014 when a famous lens company showcased his work at the 2014 Photokina in Cologne, Germany. Since then, Anthony has participated in many other competitions worldwide, some of his achievements in said competitions are featured below:
