

Therapeutic Strategies for Common Silent Killing Chronic Diseases

Programme Code: SCPD18082701

治未病之病 - 三高肥胖與壓力

At this seminar, common silent killers such as diabetes, hyperglycaemia, hypertension, hyperlipidaemia and obesity will be discussed from a perspective of “prevent the preventable” approach. How to face them psychologically and the framework of one-stop solution for your health will be explained.

After joining this seminar, participants will gain knowledge about:

- Overlapping and common soils of diabetes, hyperglycaemia, hypertension, hyperlipidaemia and obesity, which account for more than 50% of hospital admission and more than 10% of the Government medical & health expenditure in Hong Kong
- A positive attitude towards early identification, proactive and positive preventive measures
- How to prevent and manage risk factors for all these silent diseases

All in all, a person needs to develop a positive and proactive attitude, while personalized and tailor-made treatment strategies are the cornerstone for non-communicable illnesses.
