

Accounting and Financial Reporting

E-learning: Accounting for Cryptoassets

Event Code: ESEMETLS22092201

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS:

Cryptoassets have becoming increasingly popular. Cryptoassets are not only acquired by individuals for investment or speculative purpose. Certain corporate entities, financial institutions and even government bodies have started exploring the use of blockchain technology, which may have possibly started a new wave of disruption. A new era with widespread use of smart contracts, asset tokens, artificial intelligence supported automated services fueled by Cryptoassets, and central bank digital currencies may just be around the corner. The objective of this webinar is to introduce to you the commonly seen accounting issues associated with Cryptoassets, and to learn the thought process as to how to deal with more complex issues.

This webinar will cover the following topics:

- Blockchain technology and feature of Cryptoassets
- Accounting by holders of Cryptoassets
- Commonly seen accounting issues
  - Determination of active market
  - Application of broker-trader measurement exception in HKAS 2
  - Assets held by custodian / crypto-exchange
- Accounting considerations for topical/complex issues
  - stable coins
  - non-fungible tokens
  - initial coin offering
  - mining activities
  - payment to service providers and employees using Cryptoassets
