

E-learning: Application of HKICPA Audit Practice Manual (2022 edition)

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS:

The Institute’s Audit Practice Manual (2022 edition) (APM 2022) is a reference tool with customizable documentation templates and an example audit file. It allows users to tailor their audit approach and procedures based on the specific circumstances of an audit client, and assists them to comply with relevant Hong Kong Standards on Auditing (HKSAAs).

This webinar will provide an overview of APM 2022 and walkthrough the use of the manual from audit planning to completion. The speaker will discuss the manual’s approach to an audit of financial statements; the application of selected audit programmes and how they address certain requirements of HKSAAs, in order to refresh participants’ core auditing knowledge and promote the effective use of the manual.

This webinar will not discuss relevant HKSAAs in-depth. It will focus on the application of APM 2022 in an audit of financial statements and assume participants have fundamental knowledge in auditing.

NOTE: In September 2024, the Institute released the 2024 edition of the Audit Practice Manual (APM 2024), which replaces the 2022 edition. APM 2024 offers updated guidance notes, audit programmes and checklists to align with the requirements of HKSA 600 (Revised), Special Considerations—Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors) while maintaining the overall audit approach, including risk assessment, from the 2022 edition. Therefore, the discussions in this webinar remain relevant for users of APM 2024, with the exception of references to audit procedures in group audit engagements.
