

IT Series Cybersecurity Threats

Computer and Internet are leading an irreplaceable and significant role in this digital era. The safety usage of computer becomes a topic of conversation and companies need to beware of cybersecurity threats and the risk of data leakage. In view of increasing concern on cyber crimes, regulations and laws are being tightened to address the rising crime number. Companies may be aware of the related guidelines and penalties.

This seminar will cover the latest cybersecurity threats, the corresponding cost, recent incidents on ransomware, cybersecurity laws, and control strategies to reduce those risks. Overview and recent incidents of cybersecurity threats, key types of cyber crime and related controversial cases will also be discussed. Comprehensive precautions and various countries' rules will be talked through which will guide companies to well handle data privacy issues. With a brief understanding on restrictions of privacy matters, practical ideas on preventions like workable cybersecurity measures and controls will also be illustrated.
