

Best Corporate Governance Awards series: Understanding the latest ESG practices

Programme Code: SCPD20022701

About the topic

The Institute introduced Sustainability and Social Responsibility (SSR) Awards as part of the Best Corporate Governance Awards (BCGA) in 2011, given the increasing importance of sustainability considerations to listed companies and public sector organisations, investors and the wider community. This focus has also been reflected in the progressive development of the Environmental Social and Governance (ESG) Reporting Guide under the listing rules, including the recent requirements announced on 18 December 2019. The requirements will apply to financial years commencing on or after 1 July 2020, representing a paradigm shift from “reporting” to “management” with an emphasis on the board’s role in the governance structure for ESG matters.

The speaker in this seminar, who is an ESG expert with KPMG, will cover the following:

- Share the latest trends in ESG Reporting and his first-hand experience of helping various types of companies in preparing their sustainability reports; and
- Provide practical suggestions for incorporating ESG concerns into business strategies to meet stakeholders' needs and expectations, and his thoughts on how to comply with HKEX's new ESG Reporting Guide.
