

Young Members Committee webinar: What you need to know about infectious disease

COVID-19 continues to grab headlines worldwide. It has spread to almost every country around the world and killed more than 700,000 people. While Hong Kong people may be exhausted from fighting this virus, communicable diseases still pose a risk to public health. In this webinar, the speaker will take you on a journey through the fundamentals of infectious disease, public health policy and an introduction to common epidemics in Hong Kong.

Join this free webinar organized by the Institute's Young Members Committee to enhance your awareness of public health issues; and learn how to stay healthy.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Mr Eric Ip

Registered Nurse

Mr Ip's journey in healthcare began at The University of Hong Kong where he received his Bachelor of Nursing. Since then, he had completed the post-registration training and been practicing as a nurse specialist in Anaesthesia and Pain Nursing. He also pursued postgraduate qualifications in health management and engaged in the role as a clinical leader. In addition, he has been actively promoting health informatics and smart solutions in clinical settings. Currently he is one of the key persons in the development of the first smart hospital in the territory.
