Live webinar: HKFRS 13 Fair Value Measurement

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS:

Fair value measurement is one of the areas which have attracted much attention of preparers, practitioners, investors and regulators. The application of principle under HKFRS 13 often requires the use of judgement and estimates that has significant impacts over the reported results of preparers. Many practitioners also often identify this as a key audit matter for audits of listed entities. Following the outbreak of COVID-19, measurement uncertainties associated with assets are of a heightened risk.

This webinar will cover the following topics which may have significant implications to financial reporting, and explain how the applicable principles and requirements in HKFRS 13 apply to certain specific examples. It will also cover the related audit considerations.

- key considerations and application of judgement required for fair value measurement on the determination of fair value
- principles with practical examples on how to categorise fair value measurement as level 2 or level 3
- special considerations on non-financial assets and liabilities
- measurement of the fair value of unquoted equity instruments
- fair value disclosure requirements for recurring, non-recurring and disclosure only items
- proposed amendments to IFRS 13
- reliance on the work of an external party (valuers) and other audit considerations
- practice review findings

This live webinar encourages interactive-learning. A Q&A session will be included during the webinar providing opportunities for participants to explore the topics in more detail and ask questions.
